Thanks for the inquiry. As I understand the process and the discussion thus far the answer is yes. However, I do not know to what extent it has been explored and I believe we will receive greater information on that issue with the environmental impact statement. If we do not I will explore it further. Thank you for asking.

Because this is a docketed item all correspondence of this nature with commissioners must be included in the record. Therefore, I am submitting this to staff for filing.

I am no expert on this subject, but has someone looked into the issue that this oil pipeline's proposed route is close to a faultline? We do have occasional minor earthquakes from this faultline.
